VACANCY

Conservation Officer (Living Landscapes)

Based in Horncastle, Lincolnshire
Circa £25,000 pa

Do you want more, bigger, better and joined areas where wildlife thrives in Lincolnshire and can you persuade others to help make this happen?

Lincolnshire Wildlife Trust is seeking someone with entrepreneurial spirit to identify and seize opportunities for landscape-scale conservation, particularly through working in partnership with public and private organisations. You will be working to re-establish Living Landscapes from the Humber to the Wash.

This new post requires an individual with sound knowledge and understanding of nature conservation in England and the issues affecting it, together with experience in partnership working, advocacy and project management. As well as having excellent communication skills, you will have a high level of commitment to nature conservation and a desire to achieve change. A relevant environmental qualification and a full current UK driving licence are also required.
